How do you define the community to which this individual has made significant and exceptional position contribution?

How is she involved as a leader? How does her involvement go above and beyond expectations?

What are her significant and exceptional contributions to the community? What lasting impact has this had within the community?

Is there anything in the individuals' background that is important to know? (Specific obstacles, hardships overcome, disability etc.)

Selection Process:

- Each year the WVI Board of Directors will appoint an administrator to conduct the selection board. The administrator will recruit a diverse group of individuals to review nominations, schedule and administer the selection board, and formally notify the WVI Board of Directors of the resulting Awardee. Throughout the process, the administrator will remain impartial and have no influence over the selection board's vote.
- Nomination packages will be reviewed by a five person selection board consisting of at least two veterans and three non-veterans; three women and two men. Previous award winners are encouraged to volunteer for the board. Selection board members may not be nominated individuals.
- Each form will be independently reviewed and scored by each board member. Nominations will be rated on a 10 point scale with points subjectively allocated to:
 1. Demonstrated Leadership within the civilian community
 2. Specific accomplishments and overcoming obstacles
 3. Community influence

The individual with the most points will be determined the winner. A tie will be settled by rescoreing the highest scoring packages.

Presentation:

The award will be presented in an appropriate public setting, ideally at a spring Women Veteran Event by the previous year's award winner or other acceptable person.
